Murray and Calloway Plans To Restore and Preserve Old Calloway Courthouse — First in Jackson Purchase

Funds Sought To Restore Old Calloway Courthouse

By L. J. Hortin

Funds are being sought by Calloway and Murray citizens to restore and preserve the 152-year-old log courthouse of Calloway County — the "First Public Building in the Jackson Purchase Area."

This historic log structure is deteriorating rapidly now on a tiny lot on the campus of Murray State University. It has been moved twice since it was built in 1823 at Wadesboro, the first Calloway County seat. Marshall County was carved from north Calloway by the Kentucky Legislature on June 7, 1842.

The restored old courthouse is identified by a bronze marker on Chestnut Street near the General Services Building. The marker and the old log building were dedicated June 8, 1969, in a public ceremony. The marker, approved by the Kentucky Historical Society, has this inscription:

FIRST COURTHOUSE

"First public building in Jackson Purchase area. Built in 1823 for $100, it was originally erected at Wadesboro, Calloway County seat 1822-1842, where its first session of court was held Feb. 13, 1823. Remained in use till new one built in 1831. Murray became county seat in 1843 and the log building was moved here then. It has been used as a residence for over a century."

This pre-eminent heritage courthouse of the Jackson Purchase had its beginning on January 17, 1823, when the Calloway County commissioners, meeting in Wadesboro, appointed Eli Cochran, William Jones and Henry Darnell to draft a plan for the courthouse. Reuben E. Rowland was awarded the contract to build the courthouse for $100.

The new log courthouse was "to be twenty feet square, a story and a half high covered with clapboards. The floor to be made of undressed plank, the whole to be constructed of hewed logs, notched down close." The judge's bench was to be three feet high and twelve feet long. The jury was to have a bench and there was ordered "one good seat for the use of the council." Records show that the completed courthouse was formally received March 13, 1823.

The first appointed commissioners were Andrew Bell, Arthur H. Davis, Thomas Hill, Nicholas Copeland, William Short, Bannister Wade, William Rowlett, Lindsey Martin, John Hodges and George Tucker. Some historians believe the town of Wadesboro was named for Commissioner Wade.

It was in this old courthouse that "many of the first land transactions for the (See Funds, Page 9)

This bronze marker was erected in 1969 on the Murray State Campus on Chestnut Street to memorialize the Old Calloway County courthouse. The old log structure is just a few feet north of this marker.

Congress Back In Session Following Easter Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress comes back into session after its 10-day Easter recess with the majority Democrats pushing a variety of proposals to combat the recession.

Most of these proposals involve increased federal spending and will put the legislators in direct conflict with President Ford.

In signing the $24.8 billion tax-cut bill passed just before the recess began, the President declared he had drawn the line against any additional spending plans that would send the budget deficit beyond the $60 billion already estimated for the next fiscal year.

Democratic leaders contend, however, that there are emergency needs in the fields of housing, jobs, public works, health and education and programs for the elderly. They insist they will push ahead with legislation to meet these needs.

In some cases, the Democrats are talking about shifts in the Ford budget which will not necessarily mean boosts in the over-all spending total.

The President and Congress also may clash on foreign policy, particularly aid for Southeast Asia.

Before the recess the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved $82.5 million in additional military assistance for Cambodia. Ford has asked $222 million.

But Senate leaders now indicate this measure may not be brought up for debate in view of the crumbling government position in Cambodia.

Neither the Senate nor the House has shown any willingness to go along with the $300 million in new aid that the President has asked for South Vietnam.

Ford has arranged to make a major foreign policy address to Congress Thursday when he is expected to announce the administration's view of the Indochina situation.

Both branches have comparatively light floor schedules for the first post-recess week.

The Senate resumes debate today on an energy bill which would give the President power to impose gasoline rationing, subject to disapproval by Congress, and also authorizes various energy conservation programs.

It is expected to be passed later in the week.

The House, meanwhile, will consider bills on programs for the elderly.

The Senate Appropriations Committee is expected to act soon on a $5.9-billion measure already passed by the House containing funds for public service jobs and public works projects. The bill is strongly opposed by the administration.

The Senate Banking Committee will begin Wednesday to write its version of legislation to spur the housing industry. The House has passed a $2.2-billion measure in this field. Again, the administration is against the proposals.

The House Ways and Means Committee will resume its work Wednesday on an energy bill.

Regents Approve Balanced Budget, Department Shifts

The Murray State University Board of Regents approved top level changes creating two new departments and changing department chairmen in two other departments of the university in a meeting being held in Owensboro today.

The regents also approved the first balance budget for the university in several years. The budget, amounting to a total of $21,124,125, includes restricted funds of over $2.5 million and estimated expenses and income amounting to $18,462,110.

Included in the budget package were salary increases for faculty and staff ranging from 5 to 6 1/2 per cent; and increase in the student activity fee from $6 to $7 per semester and increases in student housing and dining rates for the fall semester amounting to approximately an 8.6 per cent average increase.

The board approved two resolutions concerning a new central library for the university and new student center. The board approved a resolution allowing the renovation of the current Student Union Building for use as a central library and another resolution calling for planning to begin for the construction of a new university center.

It was explained that the new library facility was urgently needed because the university was in danger of losing its accreditation because of the present facility.

The board authorized the combining of the Department of Journalism with the radio and tv portion of the Department of Communications into a new Department of Journalism, Radio and TV. Speech, which was previously in the Department of Communications, will be administered under the Department of Speech and Theatre.

The board named Dr. Robert McGaughey, presently chairman of the Journalism Department, as the head of the newly created Department of Journalism, Radio and TV effective July 1, 1975. Dr. Ray Mofield presently serves as chairman of the Communications Department. Vernon Gantt, presently professor of speech and graduate coordinator for the college of creative expression, was selected to head the Department of Speech and Theatre.

McGaughey, a native of Hopkinsville, received his Ph.D. from Ohio State University and joined the MSU faculty in 1969. Gantt, a Murray native, received the Ph.D. from Ohio University and joined the MSU faculty in 1973.

The changes were proposed by Dr. Joe Prince, Dean of the College of Creative Expression.

The board also approved the recommendation of Dr. Curtis that Dr. Robert Burke be named chairman of the Department of History, replacing Riley Venza, and that Dr. Robert Etherton be named chairman of the Department of Physics and Astronomy replacing Dr. James M. Kline.

Burke, an associated professor of history, is a native of Kansas City, Mo., and received his Ph.D. from Michigan State in 1969. He joined the MSU faculty in 1969.

Etherton is a native of Murphysboro, Ill., and received his Ph.D. from Michigan State. He joined the Murray State faculty in 1967.

In other action, the board selected Ronald Polk Foster, a senior at Daviess County High School, to receive the James Leland Hurley scholarship in construction technology at Murray State.

The annual $500 scholarship is renewable based on satisfactory academic progress and was provided as part of a $200,000 bequest by the Michigan heavy equipment businessman.

Foster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harris Foster of Owensboro and will graduate in the top three per cent of his class.

Although Hurley was never on the Murray campus, his interest in the university began as early as 1935 when he advised his nephew, James L. (Buck) Hurley, to complete his education at the institution. Since then, five members of the Hurley family have earned degrees or are currently studying at MSU.

Faculty representative on the board, Mark Cunningham, asked that the regents place on the agenda for the next meeting consideration of professional negotiation between the board and faculty. Cunningham made the request at the request of the MSU Education Association which asked for recognition as the bargaining agent for the faculty.

A major item on this afternoon's agenda for the board, which recessed at noon, will be consideration of the university's tenure policy which has been the subject of considerable controversy during the past year.

Police Investigate Four Theft Cases

Four theft cases were reported to City Police over the weekend.

At 2:05 p.m. Saturday, police were called to the Randy Whitlow residence at 1107 South 16th, where according to police reports, a diamond necklace valued at $1,000 was stolen. Officers said there were several textbooks also taken from the home.

At 2:25 p.m. Saturday, policemen were called to Hart Hall by David Doering of 307 Hart Hall. According to the police report, a tape player valued at $70 had been taken from Doering's locked car.

Two thefts were also reported Sunday.

At 2:10 p.m. at Richmond Hall, police were called to investigate the theft of a tape player, speakers and eight tapes from the car of Greg Chandler, officers said.

The last call was made at 8:04 p.m. Sunday and according to the investigating officers, an eight-track tape player and 24 tapes were taken from the car of Patricia Eddins.

Investigation into the thefts is continuing.

Saigon Orders End To 'Operation Baby Lift'

By GINNY PITT
Associated Press Writer

Some 1,700 children had been airlifted out of Southeast Asia to the United States and other nations before Operation Baby Lift ended on a large-scale basis today. A Saigon official said from now on the children will leave in smaller groups.

Diplomatic and government officials said the airlift had reached the scheduled quota approved earlier by the South Vietnamese government. They said all the children who have been evacuated were already in the adoption process, and the airlift only speeded up the paper work and the orphans' departure.

Dr. Phan Quang Dan, deputy premier for social welfare, said, "The large operation has ended. From now on, the orphans will leave in smaller groups."

On Sunday, two flights carrying a total of 135 children landed at Travis Air Force Base in California and one flight carrying 407 youngsters landed at Seattle. And two other planes left Saigon today with a total of more than 200 orphans, bringing the unofficial tally of evacuated orphans to 1,700.

Some of the children arriving in California and Seattle on Sunday were then flown on to Chicago, New York and other points.

The exact number of children, ranging in age from one week to 9 years, was not immediately available. But unofficial tallies show more than 1,700 orphans have left Saigon over the past five days.

The official government approval for the airlift provided for 1,400 children to go to the United States. Hundreds of others went to Australia, Britain and Canada.

On Sunday, Vietnamese authorities held up one U.S.-bound flight, saying the quota of 1,400 orphans which the government approved had been reached.

The flight was later cleared after American officials insisted that the Saigon officials were including children flown to Britain, Australia and Canada as well as to the United States. They successfully claimed that the 1,400 quota should apply only to children being sent to America, leaving another 300 eligible for evacuation to the United States.

All the children were in the process of adoption when the Communist offensive began more than a month ago.

The government's apparent reluctance to let any more children out was probably due to criticism from non-Communist political opponents of President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon as well as the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

The politicians, headed by neutralist Tran Ngoc Lieng, called the orphan airlift an "inhumane" propaganda campaign to obtain more war aid from the U.S. Congress and demanded that it be stopped immediately.

They made public a letter from Dr. Phan Quang Dan, Thieu's deputy premier for social welfare, in which he quoted U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin as saying the evacuation of orphans "will help create a shift in American public opinion" in favor of South Vietnam.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Dan suggested to Martin at a meeting last week that the evacuation of the children "might also have some effect on U. S. public opinion."

"The ambassador agreed with Dr. Dan's view, but this was not the reason for bringing up the entire matter of the orphans," the spokesman continued. "The ambassador's reason and concern was simply the welfare of the children."

Seven Bands Rated Superior At Festival

Seven of 24 high school and junior high school bands earned superior ratings in the Regional Band Festival at Murray State University Friday and Saturday, April 4-5.

Richard W. Farrell, chairman of the Department of Music at Murray State and festival manager, said a judging panel of three music educators rated the following bands as superior:

Class M (junior and middle school)—Murray Middle School.
Class B—Marshall County High School and Hancock County High School.
Class BB—Caldwell County High School and Reidland High School.
Class A—Lone Oak High School.
Class AA—Murray High School.

Other ratings were:
Class E (first year bands)—Benton Junior High School, North Marshall Junior High School and Heath Middle School, excellent.

Class M—Murray Middle School (seventh grade), Caldwell County Junior High School, Trigg County Middle School, Lone Oak Middle School and Reidland Middle School, excellent.

Class C—Crittenden County High School, good.

Class CC—Fulton City High School and Lyon County High School, excellent.

Class B—Trigg County High School and Ballard Memorial High School, excellent.

Class BB—Calloway County High School, Murray High School (a second band) and Heath High School, excellent.

Class A—Mayfield High School, excellent.

Classifications for bands, except for Class M for junior high and middle schools and Class E for first year bands, are determined by the difficulty of the music selected for presentation.

Sponsored by the Kentucky Music Educators Association, the festival was the fourth and final in a series of music festival events on the campus this spring. About 2,000 band students from West Kentucky were involved in the two-day program.

Judges for band performance were: William Sloan, band director at Huntsville (Ala.) High School; Frank Kendeigh, band director at Butler High School in Huntsville; and K. V. Bryant, band director at Mt. Vernon (Ind.) High School. Richard Brown, band director at Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn., judged sight reading.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Matters of minor importance may blow up out of proportion—unless YOU call a halt. Your quicksilver intuition and perceptiveness should be a help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Think twice before em-

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may now be able to find the solution to a problem which has been bothering you for some time—and in a surprisingly easy manner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good Saturn influences stimulate your skills and capabilities. You should feel enthusiastic about the way things go now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Stars indicate that you could now strike out for a higher goal. You may have to take a different route to achieve it, but the new avenue could be a better one.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Objectivity and foresight will be day's prime requirements. Do not be coerced into deals or activities which you would not normally consider.

YOU BORN TODAY: Like most natives of your Sign, you have been endowed with a strong gift of leadership, have tremendous inner reserves of courage and resourcefulness, and are capable of achieving great power in whatever field you choose as a life work. You are extremely versatile and your business acumen is outstanding. As an executive and organizer, you are tops—BUT you will have greater co-operation in your rise to the higher echelons if you will curb tendencies toward overaggressiveness and emotionalism. Bear in mind, always, that "feelings" have no place in the business world. Aside from business, you could excel in the law, politics, science (especially chemistry and medicine) and literature. Birthdate of: Albert I, King of the Belgians; World War I hero; Sonja Henie, world-famed ice-skater.

Susan Ford Is For Real

Susan Ford, the 17-year-old daughter of the President of the United States and Mrs. Ford, sounded like almost normal high school senior in a recent interview with the Associated Press.

She gets an allowance. She occasionally babysits. She teases her dad. She put her feet on his desk in the Oval Office and her mother rebuked her. She wears blue jeans around the White House.

And she doesn't like to read newspapers, didn't follow the Watergate scandal or the trial in Washington. But she has a steady boyfriend, a blind date she met a year ago.

We don't have the complete picture, though. The story didn't say if she had a stereo outfit that is stuck on full blast, or a drawer full of bubblegum, or whether she picks up her clothes and hangs on the telephone by the hour.

But then, what teen-age girl wants to discuss those topics with a strange news reporter, much less parents?

Cattle-Ranching Judge

Two teenagers from South Arkansas were sentenced to three years imprisonment recently for cattle rustling.

The sentence could have been a staggering 21 years in the penitentiary, but the judge handed down a three-year sentence to each youth, with two years suspended. Guess the judge must have been a cattle rancher.

If the boys had stolen only one cow instead of three, the charge might have been reduced to a misdemeanor.

TODAY'S TOPIC: CELEBRATING FREE ENTERPRISE

Since 1887, socialists around the world have chosen May 1—May Day—as the day to show their solidarity by holding demonstrations. In many countries, believers in socialist economies celebrate their ideological unity by making speeches and parading.

All this time, people who believe in a free economy have been without a special day to celebrate. Well, the Alms of Industry Council in Great Britain intends to remedy that situation. It has proposed that the first International Free Enterprise Day be launched on July 1, 1975. Mrs. Margaret Thatcher, leader of the Conservative Party in Great Britain, will be the principal speaker at a giant free enterprise rally in London.

The idea of an International Free Enterprise Day is appealing and should be received with favor in the United States. The virtues of the free enterprise system need to be expounded now more than ever before as the nationalizers step-up their activities in America.

Free enterprise has the answers to economic problems around the world, whether in Great Britain or the United States. In Britain, believers in free enterprise know that it is essential for their country to denationalize industries which are grossly inefficient under socialist control. In the United States, free enterprise has the answer to both recession and its fundamental cause—inflation.

In early February, 30 members of Congress issued a free enterprise statement which deserves national—indeed international—attention. Their statement on "Alternative Economic Policies" included these eminently sound words:

"We believe that the solutions to our dual economic problems of inflation and recession lie in returning decision-making to the people through the forces of the marketplace—letting the people decide what to produce, sell and buy, and at what price levels. The pricing mechanism of the marketplace, derived from the interaction of supply and demand, is a more efficient, productive and stable regulator of the economy than government can ever be." The statement also noted that "No government agency or official is as capable of making such decisions as are the people through the voluntary exchange of goods and services. To believe otherwise is to deny the basic tenets of democracy and liberty."

That is a statement to which believers in economic freedom throughout the world can subscribe completely. It is a statement that millions of Americans know to be true. But, tragically, Congress as a whole does not reflect the outlook of the 30 signers.

In this space, it is not possible to call the roll of signers, but the list included such staunch free enterprisers as Jack F. Kemp of New York, Robert Bauman of Maryland, Robin Beard of Tennessee, John B. Conlan of Arizona, Philip Crane of Illinois, William Ketchum of California, Floyd Spence of South Carolina, and Steven D. Symms of Idaho.

Hopefully, the American people will appreciate the value of this statement by the courageous 30 who signed the statement on "Alternative Economic Policies." The policies being pursued by the liberal spender majority in Congress will lead this nation to fiscal disaster. They include, as Rep. Kemp has said, "outrageous deficit spending financed by huge increases in the money supply and unlimited government borrowing." He rightly added that "government is choking to death the incentives and capital investment necessary to generate the jobs, the goods and services so necessary to increase the wealth of this nation."

The choice of an International Free Enterprise Day should help focus attention on the struggle to prevent destruction of free societies through creeping or galloping socialism. Michael Ivens, director of Alms of Industry, has been visiting the United States to promote joint action by believers in economic freedom. This is a hands across the sea operation which should enjoy strong support.

Letter To The Editor

Festival '75 A Success

Dear Editor:

FESTIVAL '75 has concluded at KET and proved to be a major success. Our primary goal of public awareness was certainly accomplished. Never in our history have so many people throughout the state been involved with a KET project, from viewers, contributors and the media, to the citizens on the streets talking about it.

Our goal of raising funds to enable us to expand our broadcast schedule was also a major success. We have received $45,000.00 and the contributions are still coming in. As a result, we will soon announce the date when we will be expanding our schedule to seven days.

We want to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for your assistance in promoting the FESTIVAL. Our clipping service is revealing that you were most kind in printing the many releases that we sent you and in promoting it on your own.

KET has recently begun a program ascertainment project in which we are asking Kentuckians to voice their opinions concerning the types of programs broadcast on KET. We hope to reflect these opinions in expanding our schedule. In creating a device for Kentuckians to express their beliefs, we developed the attached form.

We are asking you to please print the form in your newspaper as a public service, to all Kentuckians. We are hopeful that with your assistance KET will be able to broadcast programs that truly reflect the citizens' desires. We hope to begin receiving this information in the next two weeks following publication of it in your newspaper.

Thank you again for all of your assistance. If we can be of service to you in any way, please let us know.

Cordially,
Gary L. Whittle
Special Projects Assistant
To the Executive Director

THE CHOICE IS YOURS

Dear Kentuckian:

Kentucky Educational Television is your network. It belongs to every Kentuckian. And, so that KET may bring you more informative and entertaining programming, KET is asking all Kentuckians to express what they feel are Kentucky's most urgent needs. Our problems with pollution from traffic would not seem so bad if we would compare them with pollution underfoot on the boulevards during stormy days in the last century, when horses splashed and slipped in slush and rain and stuff, and the street sweepers not only couldn't sweep it, they couldn't pile it.

Capitol Background

Pocketbook Issues

To Dominate Sessions

By Sy Ramsey
AP Political Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Pocketbook issues rather than emotional matters seem likely to dominate in the 1976 legislative session.

The off and on debates that agitated both sides so greatly on abortion, capital punishment and women's rights no longer make much difference because all have slipped into the federal arena.

The legislature can do little more in the future on such topics than follow guidelines set out by U.S. Supreme Court decisions, and the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) already has been passed by this state and is out of the realm of discussion.

The major subjects probably will be collective bargaining for public employees, financing for public schools and distribution of excess receipts from the coal severance tax.

It is possible the three issues will become interwoven, either through a trade-off of votes or platforms which would blend a couple.

The blend already has occurred in the form of a proposal by the Kentucky Coal County Coalition aimed at drawing the education lobby into its struggle for more severance tax money.

Under it the schools would obtain tens of millions of dollars from the tax to lift most districts to the financial expenditure per pupil of the wealthier districts—a complicated formula that goes under the heading of "power equalization."

With or without a severance tax connection the concept that the state should help poorer school districts almost certainly will emerge in various versions next winter.

In addition the interim subcommittee on education is analyzing the new law which has started a basic change in paying for public education.

Essentially it makes an individual pupil rather than an entire classroom the basic unit for computing aid to 85 school districts.

The power equalization and pupil cost unit ideas are designed to achieve practical equality of opportunity for every pupil.

The severance tax dispute involves more than considerable extra turnback to the 43 coal-producing counties.

Proponents also want a sizeable portion allotted with no strings attached on how it is spent. Currently the state restricts usage mainly to industrial development and recreation.

The shape of collective bargaining for public hearings as special legislative committee is getting mainly predictable special interest views from all affected parties.

Other matters which should attract more than the normal amount of debate in the next General Assembly:

—Method of assessing farmland for property taxes. Currently the land is assessed on the basis of the sales price of comparable farmland. This becomes a problem in urban areas where the land is not necessarily used for crops.

—Fair trade, a euphemism for fixing price floors, especially in the milk and liquor industries. It will be under the severest attack in many years.

—Professional licensing. A plan is afoot to create a single agency to absorb the 28 boards currently administering and regulating a variety of businesses and professions.

—Mental health and retardation treatment. The entire structure of care has been questioned by at least one legislative committee, which will have more to say in coming months.

—Tobacco marketing practices. Farmers contend the so-called auction method act is an allotment allowing conspiratorial practices of companies buying their leaf.

—Medical malpractice. Pressure is building for the state to rescue hospitals and physicians whose malpractice insurance is soaring out of bounds financially or being cut off abruptly.

Funny Funny World

When Sir Rudolf Bing took over as general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, he made no attempt to conceal his disappointment in the corps de ballet, whose members lacked animation. "Isn't it time some of these ballerinas were retired?" he asked. "Can't we find something else for them to do?" "We usually do," he was told. "When they get too old to dance, they become secretaries at the Met." "Oh?" observed Bing. "I thought it was the other way around."

Let's Stay Well

Don't Bathe Newborn

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

"Do no harm" is an old adage in medicine which goes back to the days of Hippocrates. In other words, use treatments that benefit and avoid those which injure or impair recovery. Beware of overtreatment.

These thoughts come to mind because of a recent recommendation by a committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics that newborn babies should not be bathed in the traditional sense.

Any cleansing should be limited and carried out gently. Rub the head, face and diaper area when necessary, with sterile water and cotton. Small amounts of mild, nonmedicated soap may be used but should be carefully rinsed off the skin. Unless the remainder of the body is excessively dirty it should not be cleaned.

The AAP Committee stated that bathing is postponed to allow the newborn's temperature to stabilize. The report appeared recently in "Pediatrics" and was later summarized in "Modern Medicine."

Nonmedicated soap is recommended because the thin skin of an infant may be irritated by medication and portions of medication can be absorbed by the very young child through its skin, especially by the premature baby. Several years ago research reports linked brain damage in premature babies to whole-body washings in baths containing hexachlorophene.

Infrequent bathing avoids overtreatment and assures that we "do no harm."

Q: Mrs. F.T. wants to know if it is more effective to punish a child in the presence of his playmates.

A: In general, it is undesirable to punish a child in the presence of his playmates. He should understand the reason for any punishment. If it is done in haste, you may be excessively angry. It is preferable to take the child to another room, talk the matter over, and calm down before carrying out punishment. Embarrassing a child in front of his playmates should not be a part of punishment. Try using affection and comradeliness consistently to lessen any need for punishment.

Q: Mr. E.N., a senior citizen, wants to know if most "old people" have arthritis.

A: Most older persons (over ninety per cent) show evidence of degenerative arthritis on physical or X-ray examinations. Fortunately, only a limited number of these persons showing such changes have symptoms or impairments of function, many of which can be relieved by treatment.

Mike Owen Has Great Weekend, Racers Don't

By ROSS BOLING
Thanks to the efforts of number one singles ace, Mike Owen, the Murray State tennis team was saved from total embarrassment this weekend in Bowling Green.

The Racers netters lost important OVC matches to Middle Tennessee and Austin Peay by identical 8-1 scores and in both matches it was Owen's victory in singles that prevented Murray from being shutout.

With this weekend's performance, the intense competitor from Evansville firmly established himself as one of the bona-fide favorites to win the conference championship at the number one singles position.

Although Murray coach Bennie Purcell, nursing a persistent cold and a pulled muscle in his right little finger (all weekend he had to shake hands with his left hand) couldn't find much to exult about, he was quite pleased with Owen's steady play.

"I think Mike will prove to be one of the best number one players in the conference. He is certainly one of the best competitors in the conference and for that matter, one of the best I have ever coached," commented Purcell.

People are rarely impressed when they first see Owen play and typically express amazement that he is a number one player.

His game is characterized by constant hustle and a patient consistency that eventually wears down his opponents. Unlike most number one players, he is persevering rather than overpowering.

His game is never attractive but, predicated on it invariably, what he likes to call "guts," seems to get the job done.

Following his victories over APSU's George Scott and Middle's Lasse Durchman, last year's runnerup at number one, Owen was coolly matter-of-fact.

"I just tried to play my best. Conference matches are the most important of the season so there was a little extra something on the line. I just wish I could've played better in doubles."

There was another, kind of sub-threshold something on the line, too. Because Bowling Green's tennis courts are located adjacent to Western Kentucky's football practice field, the weekend's matches were played against a near constant backdrop of Western's spring football practice.

The frenetic drone of colliding helmets and shoulder pads distracted most of the players on both teams but ironically, helped Owen, a former All-State football player at Bosse High in Evansville, to play a little better.

"All the noise reminded me a little of Bosse so I got more psyched up while everybody else just got distracted."

As it turned out it's too bad the other Racers aren't former football players as well.

Racer number two, Ross Boling, a native of Bowling Green, didn't have a very successful homecoming. Having just recovered from a week-long bout with a cold, he played well in spots but tired visibly in the late going as he lost to APSU's Lawrence Weiss 2-6, 6-1, 6-2 and to Middle's wily Bob Butterfield, 6-2 6-3.

Number three Tom Lie lost to APSU's Gary Boss 6-2 6-3 and to Middle's Geoff Gilchrist, 6-2 6-2.

At the number four singles Del Purcell lost a close match to APSU's George Jimenez 6-4 5-7 6-3 but was beaten rather handily by Middle's Peter Douglas 6-1 6-4.

Craig Mangold, Murray's number five, suffered convincing defeats at the hands of APSU's Mario Valle, 6-1 6-0, and Middle's Hayes Blackwell 6-2 6-2.

Mangold's doubles partner, Jim Lukeman, lost to Peay's Manuel Losada, a former number one player, 6-1 6-2 and Middle's Doug Miedaner, 6-1 6-1.

The doubles play was equally disappointing.

The number one duo of Owen and Boling were surprised by Peay's Weiss and Scott 6-3 7-5, and were trounced by Middle's Butterfield and Gilchrist, 6-2 6-3.

Number two Purcell and Lie were beaten by Peay's Boss and Valle, 6-4 6-4 and fell to Middle's Douglas and Durchman 6-4 6-4.

Mangold and Lukeman continued to experience hard luck as they lost to APSU's Losada and Jimenez 6-2 6-2 and Middle's Blackwell and Miedaner, 6-2 6-2.

What was probably the worst OVC start for Murray in years left Coach Purcell somewhere between anticipation and apprehension of next weekend's conference matches with Eastern and Morehead at Richmond.

"I think we can win both matches but if we don't, we're in really bad trouble," said Purcell.

The Racers take on coach Tommy Buford's Memphis State Tigers tonight at 7:00. The match is scheduled for the University courts.

Siemanowski Leads 'Breds To Pair Of Wins Over 'Toppers

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
John Siemanowski was dizzy Saturday.

No, he wasn't dizzy from a Friday night party or anything like that. He was dizzy because he spent most of the day running around the base paths at Reagan Field.

The sophomore rightfielder of the Thoroughbreds laced eight hits in 10 plate appearances, drove in six runs and had a grand slam homer in pacing Murray State to a twinkling of Western Kentucky.

In the opening contest, the 'Breds scored a tally in the bottom of the seventh to nip the Hilltoppers 10-9 while in the nightcap, Murray ripped their Ohio Valley Conference foes 17-3.

Siemanowski was a one-man offensive show. The Riverside, New Jersey, native, a transfer from the University of Delaware, showed a crowd of between 1,500 and 2,000 why he has earned the nickname of the "Toy Cannon," a name given to Jimmy Wynn of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

At one point, the 5-7, 165-pound Siemanowski laced six consecutive hits, only one shy of the record held by Steve Barrett and Johnny "Red" Reagan, now of course the Thoroughbred coach.

With the two wins, the 'Breds go to 31-4 for the season and are now 2-0 in the spring race of the OVC's Western Division. Murray won the fall division with a perfect 6-0 mark.

If Murray wins the spring division, then they will automatically be in the OVC Championship series. The OVC champion will receive an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament.

The 'Breds came into the twinbill with three consecutive losses, after a string of 22 straight wins.

And after the first inning, it appeared the Murray loss streak might go to four.

Western ripped Murray ace Mike Sims for four runs in the opening frame, two of which came on a homer by Terry Teeder.

But Sims came back with a shot of his own in the second.

After Terry Brown walked, catcher Gene Steuber drilled a homer to left and then on the next pitch, Sims slammed a solo homer and Murray trailed 4-3.

The 'Breds scored twice in the third with David Hughes and Don Walker picking up the RBIs.

Then in the fourth, Murray added another pair of runs and did the same in the fifth. Going into the top of the seventh, the 'Breds led 9-4 and it appeared Sims was en route to raising his record to an unblemished 8-0 for the season.

But like the opening inning, he ran into trouble.

After two consecutive singles, Sims retired a man for the first out of the frame. Then three consecutive singles and a walk scored three runs and Sims left the game.

Sophomore righthander Terry Brown came in and he immediately gave up two passes to send in the tying run. With one out and the sacks still full, Glen Petersen of Elizabethtown came in out of the bullpen.

After firing the first pitch over for a strike, Petersen got the batter to hit into a 6-4-3 doubleplay and the 'Breds went into the home half of the seventh needing a run for the win.

They got it.

And guess who started the rally.

With one out, Siemanowski singled and Leon Wurth walked. Then Brown rapped a solid hit into center and that sent in Siemanowski with the winning run.

Petersen got credit for the decision, raising his season record to 4-0.

In the second game, southpaw Randy Oliver of Hazel spotted the 'Toppers a 2-0 lead in the second as Kiessling rapped a two-run homer.

Then the 'Breds scored seven times in the third and from that point on, the large crowd roared its approval to the dance around the basepaths.

The big blow in the third inning was a towering three-run homer by sophomore Don Walker of Centralia, Ill. Mike Cathey had a solo homer in the frame.

In the fourth, Murray stretched the lead to 8-2 as Brown singled to score Siemanowski, who had reached base on a single.

Then in the fifth, the 'Breds put nine big runs on the board and had the huge crowd roaring.

With nobody out and the sacks loaded, Siemanowski came to the plate and killed a belt-high fastball. The ball soared high in the sky and landed about 400 feet away from the plate in leftfield.

Oliver went the distance on the hill for the 'Breds in gaining his sixth win of the season. He walked one man in the contest, breaking his string of three consecutive games without giving up a pass.

Oliver also chalked up seven strikeouts.

The 'Breds are in Carbondale today for a grudge rematch with Southern Illinois. In an earlier meeting at Reagan Field, Murray took a 3-2 win.

Murray will be off Tuesday but will be at home for a 3 p. m. single game Wednesday against Vanderbilt.

Then on Saturday, the 'Breds will host Middle Tennessee at a twinbill.

Reds Expected To Get Help From Weatherman

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

The weatherman must be a baseball fan ... at least in Cincinnati.

After more than a week of unseasonably cold weather, the temperature rose into the 50s Sunday and a further warming trend is expected to push the thermometer into the 60s today for the opener of the major league baseball season between the Reds and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Three more games are scheduled under the lights as the National League begins its 100th campaign and the American League its 75th.

In the NL, the Montreal Expos will be in St. Louis to face the Cardinals while the Atlanta Braves invade Houston to play the Astros. The lone AL contest finds the Kansas City Royals in Anaheim against the California Angels.

The Royals and Angels meet again Tuesday night while eight other AL clubs get under way the New York Yankees against the Indians in Cleveland, the Milwaukee Brewers against the Red Sox in Boston, the Minnesota Twins against the Texas Rangers in Arlington and the Chicago White Sox in Oakland against the world champion, Catfish Hunter-less A's.

In NL games Tuesday, the Philadelphia Phillies face the Mets in New York, the San Francisco Giants meet the Padres in San Diego and the Braves and Astros go at it again in Houston.

The recent storm that tormented the Midwest caused two of Tuesday's scheduled openers to be called off. The Chicago Cubs will host the Pittsburgh Pirates in their NL opener on Wednesday instead while the AL's Baltimore Orioles will oppose the Tigers in Detroit on Thursday in a regularly scheduled game. Tuesday's game will be made up later in the season.

The Dodgers finished four games ahead of the Reds in the NL West last year and the two teams are expected to pick up where they left off. Don Sutton, 19-9 in 1974, will pitch for the Dodgers against Cincinnati's Don Gullett, 17-10, before a sell-out crowd of 52,000 in Riverfront Stadium, including Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, who will throw out the first ball.

After viewing the Dodgers and Reds, Kuhn will rush to St. Louis to watch veteran pitcher Bob Gibson begin his final season. Gibson, the winningest active pitcher with 248 victories but trying to bounce back from a sore knee that dropped his record to 11-13 last season, will be opposed by Montreal left-hander Dave McNally, 16-10 with the Baltimore Orioles, who traded him during the off-season.

In Houston, the Braves, minus Hank Aaron for the first time in 22 years, will use knuckleballer Phil Niekro against the Astros' Larry Dierker.

However, the best may come when California's Nolan Ryan hooks up with Kansas City's Steve Busby. Ryan closed out 1974 with his third career no-hitter while Busby has pitched a no-hitter in each of his first two seasons.

Reconstructed from original drawings, the fort is as accurate in detail as history reveals. Costumed artisans demonstrate the making of soap and candles, weaving, and many another craft of the early 1800's.

Kentucky's heritage and tradition are preserved in other state parks and shrines across the Commonwealth... all within a day's drive of your own home. So whether you're out for a one-day jaunt or for a week's vacation, visit Kentucky State Parks this year!

New Suggestions For Finding Refuge From Tornadoes Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — New suggestions for finding safe refuge during tornadoes have been developed by a team of researchers which examined the rubble of schools devastated by the storms.

The findings, which run counter to some popular folklore about tornadoes, are being distributed by the National Weather Service to help school officials prepare for the impending peak tornado season. Combining their findings with the observation that 90 per cent of tornadoes move from a southwesterly direction, the team of engineers and architects offered these recommendations for safety in school buildings:

—Stay out of large rooms such as gymnasiums, cafeterias and auditoriums with free-span roofs. These roofs are subject to lifting forces and are more prone to failure than more well-supported roofs.

—Avoid the southwest corners of schools. Since the tornado is likely approaching from that direction and since the winds are 100 miles an hour or so higher on one side, the result is even greater pressure on southerly and westerly walls.

Weather Service officials noted that the advice runs counter to the folklore of huddling in the southwest corner of a structure.

—Seek out spaces protected by interior walls. They are more shielded from the direct impact of the winds and they usually don't bear the load of holding up the roof.

—Corridors are usually good havens, but avoid if at all possible corridors facing west or south. They tend to become "wind tunnels." Corridors facing north are best, and those facing east are next best.

—Avoid areas with large spaces or glass.

—Basements are safest. First floors rank next.

Weather Service officials said the findings would not be applicable to most homes. For people caught at home during a tornado, the Weather Service recommended they go to a basement if possible, get under the stairwell and stay away from chimneys, which are liable to fall. In homes with no basement, officials recommended a small first-floor room such as a closet or a bathroom.

In this newly created position, de Waart is scheduled to conduct four weeks of programs during his first season.

Recently more than 500 hikers participated in a special hike along the 26-mile historical trail system located in the southern portion of the 170,000-acre public outdoor recreation area. Mrs. Davis and her daughter are from Paducah. The hike was sponsored by the Murray Good Sam Club, TVA, NCHA, and the Boy and Girl Scout Councils of Kentucky and Tennessee. Hikers from Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas, and Illinois participated.

Inmates And Staff Claim Recent Prison Probe Biased And Unfair

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A number of inmates and some staff members at Kentucky State Prison say a recent probe of alleged official misconduct at the prison was biased and unfair.

Kentucky State Police, under Maj. B. L. Sherrard, conducted the investigation after inmates complained about policies on haircuts, mail and on use of a solitary confinement cell called "the hole" for punishment.

Navy Seaman Recruit William D. Wilder, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wilder Jr. of 410 S. 16th St., Murray graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The training included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

PLAYING CARDS PROHIBITION ASKED

PAPUA NEW GUINEA (AP) — A congress of women's associations called on the House of Assembly to revoke the law allowing playing cards to be used and sold. The women said their husbands were causing family problems by gambling, and said that if the house failed to act they would stage a protest march.

On Jan. 30, 1787, Thomas Jefferson told James Madison "a little rebellion now and then is a good thing."

The prisoners charge that police interviewed selected groups, including many who were either up for parole or were informers. The informers, the prisoners said, inhibited many from speaking out.

They also charge that police were "hostile" during interviews.

State Sen. John Lackey, D-Richmond, said recently he was "disturbed" by reports the state police, who conducted the investigation, were talking only to inmates "favorable to the administration."

But Sherrard, who directed the investigation, said it was impartial and "as thorough as possible."

Sherrard said his investigation was designed to get some of the "groundwork" out of the way before a blue ribbon panel is named by the governor to conduct a further probe.

Two inmates charged in a letter to the Louisville Courier-Journal that police talked to inmates in "a roomful" at a time, and in the prisoners' words, "...at least half the men didn't say a thing about this place, and the ones that did, didn't get to say what they wanted to because there were some informers in the bunch, and everyone knew that everything said was going to get back to the warden anyway."

James Bell Yager, president of the National Prisoners' Rights Union, and currently an inmate at the Jefferson County Jail, has asked Gov. Julian Carroll to suspend prison superintendent Henry Cowan pending the outcome of the investigation.

"Warden Cowan's mere presence at the institution during the investigation will implant a certain degree of fear in these witnesses," Yager said.

Yager said he wrote the letter after receiving a request from a number of inmates at the prison to, in their words, "expose this farce put on by the Kentucky State Police."

Cowan would not comment on the charges, except to say that recent changes in prison regulations, including the closing of "the hole" and changes in mail and hair regulations, were not prompted by the investigation.

Wet-Dry Referendum Set In Madisonville

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A referendum is scheduled in just over two weeks on an issue that has sparked controversy in this small coal town — whether to permit the sale of packaged liquor.

The Hopkins County seat, a town of 17,000 persons, has been "dry" since Dec. 4, 1942, when Hopkins County voters decided to prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The coming vote, scheduled for April 22, has split Madisonville into two groups, both arguing that the outcome could affect the validity of the city's slogan: "Best Town on Earth."

The campaign to legalize sales of alcoholic beverages started last November when an unemployed city sanitation worker, William Russell, 31, began knocking on doors to gather signatures for a petition. He claims he knocked on 90 per cent of the residential doors in Madisonville.

"People said I didn't have a chance when I started, but I'm going to prove them wrong," Russell said.

He succeeded in getting 1,008 persons to sign the petition when only 712 were required. However, 243 names were stricken from the list for not being registered, leaving 765.

Russell said he circulated the petition because he wanted to contribute something to the city.

"I'm tired of what's going on," he said. "There's a lot of alcohol here, and I want it legalized and controlled. We'll eliminate a lot of the abuses by taking the illegal money and putting it into legal hands."

D. R. Bales, 61, chairman of the Committee for Legal Sales, says business in Madisonville would improve because more shoppers would come to town if it were "wet."

Dr. Harold Purdy, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Madisonville's largest, heads the Concerned Citizens Committee which opposes legalization of liquor sales.

A handout furnished by Purdy said: "This issue is clearly drawn between the Christian groups which are out for a clean, free state... and the alcohol industry, fighting for only one thing, profits."

The county sheriff's office admits the presence of bootlegging in the area, but says it's "a smaller problem than in other counties."

Jim Walker, editor of the local newspaper, the Madisonville Messenger, said he doubted if his paper would editorialize about the issue.

"We'll let the people decide," he said.

Funds Sought To Restore Courthouse

Jackson Purchase was made." The Kentucky Legislature in 1822 authorized the opening of a land office at Wadesboro, and Edmund Curd was appointed receiver. The first lands entered in Calloway in 1825 brought $1 per acre. This price was reduced to 50 cents an acre in 1827, resulting in a "tide of immigration" that raised the population of Calloway to 5,164 in 1830.

Some of the facts surrounding the moving of the old courthouse are unknown. Tradition has it that it was dismantled at Wadesboro some time between 1842 and 1845 and moved to Murray where it was reassembled on the corner of Fourth and Elm Streets. Old timers say it was moved to Murray on a sled drawn by oxen.

Through the years, additions were made to the old log structure and it became completely enclosed within a frame residential house. Then in 1964 it was learned that the house with the log cabin inside was being razed. According to Mrs. George Hart, writer and historian, the house was known as the Mrs. Sallie Humphrey home. Dr. Will Frank Steely, president of Northern Kentucky State College and former head of the History Department at Murray State University, indicated that it was owned by Mr. J. A. Turner at the time it was razed.

The late John C. Waters, formerly a member of the Murray State staff, is given credit by Mrs. Hart for the discovery of the log relic inside the building as it was being razed.

Dr. Steely, in his dedicatory address, said: "It was one morning in August, 1964, when Hunter (Hancock) rushed into my office and bodaciously dragged me over to see President Woods to inquire about the possibility of a spot on the Murray State campus to which we could move this structure (the old log courthouse)."

Permission was granted and the old logs and timbers were moved to the Murray State campus. Instrumental in raising funds for this removal were Mayor Holmes Ellis, the City Council, Judge Robert O. Miller, the Calloway County Board of Magistrates and other individuals and organizations.

Others who assisted with the project included Dr. Hunter

Hancock, Mr. John C. Waters, Dr. Will Frank Steely, Atty. James Overby, Dr. Harvey Elder, Dr. M. O. Wrather and Judge Hall McCuiston.

With the old log courthouse looking like a pile of old logs on the campus, interest in the restoration project waned. Money from contributions had been spent and the future looked bleak. But County Judge Hall McCuiston and Mrs. McCuiston spearheaded a drive by the Calloway County Retired Teachers Association to raise money for completion of the building.

The Jackson Purchase Historical Society assisted in the project, as well as clubs and individuals. But the Retired Teachers headed the list, and over $1,100 was raised.

The old log cabin was re-roofed with cypress hand-rived shingles and a new chimney was built. Doors and windows were replaced, logs were treated and restored, and the lot was graded and rock-terraced. Mrs. Charles Milliken, former president of the Kentucky Historical Society, directed the plaque making. Dr. Harry M. Sparks, new president of Murray State University, officially received the restored and renovated Calloway Courthouse at a dedication ceremony on June 8, 1969.

Dr. Will Frank Steely, in dedicating the building and marker, said: "The county seat of Wadesboro, original site of this building, was a most important center of land sales for the entire Purchase area which had been opened by Andrew Jackson's and Isaac Shelby's treaty with the Chicasaw Indians in 1818. Fellow citizens of this region, you have here a very rich historic item. As a historian, I know of no shrine west of Louisville more integral to the history of the State of Kentucky, and that includes a cabin in a national park in Hodgenville."

Mrs. C. C. (Betty) Lowry, co-chairman of the Calloway County Bicentennial Commission, has indicated that Mayor John Ed Scott, County Judge Robert O. Miller, and former Judge Hall McCuiston are presently jointly working on plans to repair and preserve the Old Calloway Courthouse as a permanent memorial to the historic past of Calloway County and the entire Jackson Purchase. Judge Miller is also co-chairman of the Bicentennial Commission of the county.

PUBLIC NOTICES

"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

Music Of 20th Century To Be Symphony Feature

Emphasis will be on music of the 20th century when the Murray State University Symphony Orchestra presents its annual spring concert in Lovett Auditorium on the campus at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, April 10.

Directed by its regular conductor, Neale B. Mason, associate professor of music at Murray State, the orchestra will feature violinist Leo Blair, assistant professor of music on the campus, as the guest artist.

Blair, who teaches violin, viola and music history, is an experienced performer. His orchestral experience includes the campus orchestra, the Nashville Symphony, the Jackson (Tenn.) Symphony, and the Owensboro Symphony.

He is also a frequent performer on the campus in solo and chamber music performances.

Blair will join the orchestra in playing Violin Concerto No. 2 in g minor by Prokofiev, a 20th century Russian composer. Mason said the demanding piece of music is one of the composer's masterpieces and has never been performed in West Kentucky. He added that the concerto is famous for its second movement, which by itself is one of the best representatives of the work of Prokofiev.

Another 20th century work to be played by the orchestra is Symphony No. 2 by Howard Hanson, subtitled the "Romantic." Mason described the symphony as "profoundly beautiful with a neo-romantic flavor reminiscent of Sibelius, but somehow really American." Hanson is one of the most important American composers and is remembered for his service as director of the Eastman School of Music.

The program will be completed with music by the 19th century composer, von Weber. Mason said the orchestra will play the overture to his opera entitled "Oberon," a standard in the orchestra repertoire, which he described as "impressionistic in its mood of magic and mystery."

Consisting of 60 players, the MSU Symphony is made up of students and a few faculty at the university, along with some local area musicians. The broad purpose of the orchestra, according to Mason, is to provide students of music the opportunity to acquire practical experience in orchestral playing and, at the same time, to provide valid cultural presentations for the enjoyment and edification of the campus community and the people in the area.

The concert is open to the public at no charge.

The sixth in a series of eight major symposiums to be held at Murray State University by 1976 and dealing with America's Revolutionary War history will be conducted at the University Thursday, April 10.

The symposium, like the five earlier ones, has been designed to help junior high, high school, community college and college-level history teachers prepare for more meaningful teaching of the Revolutionary War era during 1976-83, America's bicentennial celebration period.

The theme of the April 10 symposium will be: "The American Revolution: Conflicting Viewpoints in the Twentieth Century." Three nationally-recognized authorities on the era are scheduled to participate in the discussions.

Dr. Robert E. Brown, professor of history at Michigan State University, Lansing, for the past 28 years, will serve as general chairman for the day-long program.

A visiting lecturer at more than 20 colleges and universities, Dr. Brown not only is a Distinguished Faculty Member at Michigan State, but also is a Thomas Jefferson Fellow at the University of Virginia and a Gaspar Bacon Lecturer at Boston University.

Also participating will be: Dr. David Curtis Skaggs, Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio, who will discuss "The American Revolution: A War for Democracy or Aristocracy," and Dr. Joseph A. Ernst, York University, Brooklyn, N. Y., who will speak on the "American Revolution: A War for Free Minds or Free Enterprise."

The symposium will open at 9 a. m. with a 30-minute registration period in the Murray State University School, where all sessions, with exception of the evening program, will be held.

Dr. Brown will be the principal speaker at the banquet, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. in the Waterfield Student Union Building. His topic will be "American Revolution: A Middle-Class Triumph."

Books On Exhibit At Muray High School Library

Students and faculty will be able to view this collection throughout the day in the library and the public is invited to come in and browse, a school spokesman said.

"We strongly urge every history teacher, and anyone else interested in the American Revolution historical period, to take advantage of this unusual opportunity to participate in these in-depth discussions of the Revolutionary War period," Dr. Burke said.

He also emphasized that anyone wishing to hear Dr. Brown's address, but unable to attend the banquet, would be welcome to do so after the dinner had been served. Dr. Brown is expected to speak about 7:15 p. m., he said.
